

Chris Dingli

Full Biography (1041 words)

Chris Dingli trained at Webber Douglas Academy of Dramatic Arts in London. He has spent the last decade and a half working as an actor on stage and on screen in London and Europe.

His stage and film work has seen him work with some of the world's most recognisable names including Michael Bay, Rachel Weisz, Alejandro Amenábar, John Krasinski, Malcolm McDowell, Mark Strong, Joseph Fiennes and Linda Gray.

He has performed under the patronage of the Queen of Spain, helped adapt one of Philip Pullman's novels for the stage, worked with multiple Academy Award winners, Carnegie medal winners, and on world renowned platforms such as the BBC, SKY and Netflix.

His screen credits include 13 Hours: The Secret Soldiers of Benghazi, Doctors (BBC), The Bombing of Pan Am 103 (BBC/Netflix), Dear England (upcoming), Agora, Paul Apostle of Christ, Sinbad (SKY) and The Good Ship Murder (Channel 5). He starred in and was head writer of the TV series Comedy Knights TV Shorts.

Chris rose to prominence in his native Malta starring in the extremely popular TV soap Becky, as well as for his performances playing the title role in Amadeus and the Emcee in Cabaret, both at the National Theatre, Malta.

In 2010 he co-created Dingle Bells Malcolm Smells, a semi-improvised comedy show that spawned a series of successful sequels over the years.

He co-founded and was a producer, performer and head writer of the hugely successful Comedy Knights, a satirical sketch show that was performed to packed houses every Christmas season. He starred in a spin-off TV show called Comedy Knights TV Shorts which aired in 2015 and which Chris co-produced and served as co-showrunner. This TV series spawned several viral videos and found a new lease of life as a lip-synch challenge on TikTok.

In July 2020, he wrote, directed and performed in The New Normal, a socially-distanced comedy show for the APS Summer Festival. It played two sold-out performances to over 200 socially-distanced people a night.

His series of student-friendly adaptations of Shakespeare plays under his Shakeshorts banner are very popular amongst young audiences, and won the 2023 Premju Ghall-Arti (National Arts Award) for Best Work for Young Audiences. His adaptation of Peer Gynt played at the National Theatre, Malta, with the Malta National Youth Orchestra in 2018.

Chris has toured his original one-man comedy Bad Dad to various cities in Europe and North America, to both critical and audience acclaim, receiving 5 star reviews in London and elsewhere.

As a stand-up comedian, Chris has performed in Malta, Edinburgh and Los Angeles. Highlights include 2017's One Night Comedy Special and his 2018 stand-up residency at Hard Rock Cafe in Valletta. He continues to perform stand up comedy in Malta and the UK.

His corporate work as Master of Ceremonies and event host include clients such as KPMG, HSBC, Malta Philharmonic Orchestra, APS Bank, Betsson, SiGMA, PwC and the Valletta Film Festival. His autobiographical TED-style talk, Principles and Punchlines has received tremendous feedback from corporate clients.

In 2014 he wrote and directed the contemporary circus show The Hogwallops, which has toured all over the world gaining excellent reviews everywhere. It remains a popular touring show, with hundreds of performances to date. In 2019 he wrote and co-directed Hotel Paradiso for the same company, which is also currently touring.

In the summer of 2016, Chris played Lonny in the original Maltese cast of Rock of Ages to universally rave reviews. The production went on to become Malta's longest-running musical, a title that it retains to date.

In September 2017 he was awarded Best Actor at the Malta International Theatre Festival for his performance in the self-penned one-man dramatic show, Battleship.

In 2018 his short film, The Seat, premiered at the We Like 'em Short festival in Oregon, USA.

In 2019 he wrote and co-directed Harbour Odyssey for the Malta International Arts Festival, which was performed again in 2022, 2023 and 2024. It is scheduled to be repeated at the 2025 edition of the festival. Together with Steve Hili, he co-produced How to Be a Londoner in an Hour which he performed in London.

He is in high demand as a voice actor and has voiced commercials and information videos for international clients such as the EU Parliament, HSBC, Bank of Valletta, VISA Contactless, The Malta Chamber, Debenhams, Louvre Abu Dhabi, Emirates, and The Malta Financial Services Authority, amongst others. He has also narrated the audiobooks of the thrilling historical fiction novels Mad King Robin and The Cream of Chivalry.

In 2020, he moved his performances online. The Comedy Knights House Party was live-streamed to thousands of people over the Christmas period. The Comedy Knights' New Normal was similarly enjoyed live online. In 2021 his Shakeshorts adaptation of Macbeth was adapted for online streaming for students in schools across the Maltese islands. A year later, his Shakeshorts adaptation of A Midsummer Night's Dream was performed in London.

His recent film work has seen him shift into more dramatic territory with leading roles in the indie dramas In Corpore (2020), Uwija (2021) and the award-winning The End (2020) as well as roles in the international films Not Without Hope (Upcoming), The Silent Hour (2024), Sniper G.R.I.T (2023), and Vanitas (Upcoming), and supporting roles in prestige TV series such as The Bombing of Pan Am 103 (BBC/Netflix) and Dear England (upcoming).

In 2024, he co-wrote and starred in Ciao Ciao, a feature film that premiered in March 2025.

Chris is a proficient musician on the violin and viola. He studied at the Johann Strauss School of Music, Valletta, under the tutorship of Mro. Joachim Atanassov and later under Mr Antoine Frendo.

He has worked extensively as a professional actor-musician touring all over the UK. He has performed on the viola with various orchestras, including the National Orchestra (now the Malta Philharmonic) and as a soloist in London, Edinburgh, Italy and Malta.

In 2008 he placed first runner-up in the London Busking Competition (on the viola), which sought to find the most popular busker on the London Underground. As a result, he was invited to play live on Capital FM in London and at London City Hall.

He lives in London with his wife and two children.

www.chrisdingli.com

@DingliTweets

Insta: @cdingli